By Albert Taylor on June 22, 2022 110 0 Glastonbury is back to 2022 (Figure: Getty) Thousands of folios are descending on Worthy Farm in Somerset, while the Glastonbury Festival returns to the site for the first time since 2019. In the coming days, festival attendees will be treated with hundreds of acts in a variety of stages, completed by Billie Eilish, Sir Paul McCartney and Kendrick Lamar - after the event was filed due to pandemic in 2020 and 2021. Course, if the course, if it was 't's your first Glastonbury, it may take a while to find your way around the site - or if it's been a while since you were there for the last time, you may also need some help to remember where everything is on the site. Luckily, there is a map of the Glastonbury 2022 layout showing everything from where to collect lost properties to where to fill your bottle of water-not to mention the location of these important stages. Everything you need to know is just below. How is the map of Glastonbury? A site map for the 2022 Glastonbury Music Festival (Figure: Glastonbury) Click here to see an enlarged version on the map. Here are just a few of the essential areas you need for the following days: steps, if you want to make sure that you have a good place in the crowd for the headline acts, head toward the north of the site, where you will find the pyramid stage - presenting yourself in most of the biggest names this year. The rest of the stages are scattered nearby—including the John Peel stage (northeast of the site), the other stage (in front of the pyramid stage) and West Holts (west of the other stage). Follow the pink line around the route, indicating the pedestrian map to ensure you don't get lost. Medical assistance You will find a medical center behind the pyramid phase in the north of the site and another to the west, near the zurec amu moc apam on sodacatseofAs self., aidacra ad Bars and drinking water If you're looking to top up your liquid refreshment or stay hydrated, there are bars dotted all around the site, along with places where you can refill your water bottle. They're highlighted on the map with a pint or a water bottle symbol. ATM machines If you need to get cash, once again you'll find these dotted around the site, including one behind the Pyramid Stage close to the medical centre. They're highlighted on the map with a pound symbol. Property lock-ups If you have valuables you want to store away, you can do so at one of the many lock-ups located around the site. They're highlighted on the map with a lock symbol. To view this video please enable JavaScript, and consider upgrading to a web browser that supports HTML5 video. How big is the Glastonbury site? The actual Glastonbury site is huge around 900 acres in total. It's surrounded by around eight miles of fencing and while the Pyramid Stage may be the main attraction, there are more than 100 stages and venues throughout, not to mention 100 bars, over 500 food stalls and an impressive 4,000 toilets across the site. Around 200,000 people attend the festival every year although that has been the case. While the first festival in 1970 was attended by just 1,500 people, a record 300,000 crammed into the event in 1994, which was heading by The Levellers. The festival was held intermittently from 1970 until 1981, and has been a near-annual event since then with breaks every five years or so to allow the land to recover.
